A ROUSING WEEK OF BARGAINS.

Greatest Six-day Sale on Record

Remember That This is the Greatest Week of All.

We quote the lowest prices ever known in this city.

This great sale will extend through every department in the house, and will be far-reaching in its effect. It is customary for some houses to take a few small items and name a very low price on them, and the sales on these articles would not amount to ten dollars a day. Our system is to take every article and make a leader of it. Mark it at a small profit, after buying it as cheap as it can be sold for, and this is why we can offer for this week—

Handsome long Newmarket tailor-made cloaks, made from heavy twilled diagonals, at $5, and they are well worth $10.

Beautiful tailor-made cloaks, goods that are worth from $12 to $14, at $6 50 and $7 50 each.

Bed comforts at 75c, 98c, $1 25, $1 50, $1 75 up.

Blankets at $3 50, worth $5. Blankets at $4, worth $6 50. Blankets at $5, worth $8, and blankets at $7 50 better than any $10 blanket in the city.

500 pieces flannels from the great New York auction sales. Now is the best time to buy flannels. Never before have they been sold so cheap.

VISIT OUR BIG CORSET DEPARTMENT.

A 50c corset for 25c. A $1 corset for 75c. Largest, cheapest and best line of corsets in the city.

We Continue Our Great Dress Goods Sale

For one more week. The past week was the largest we ever had. We intend this shall be still larger. We are better prepared to meet the demand.

This week we inaugurate our great handkerchief sale.

This week we continue our great sale of notions.

WINTER STOCK OF UNDERWEAR & HOSIERY

THE PEOPLE'S STORE

MILLINERY DEPARTMENT

Is a Feature Worthy the Consideration of all Ladies Interested in Choice Headgear.

We have started out this season with the determination of making this department one wherein every lady in the community can be suited with hats in proportion to the amount they desire to expend. We will make this the Millinery Parlor of Los Angeles. Our importations contain the choicest and modest as well as the most costly and gaudy trimmings, the richest ever exhibited here. Our hats, bonnets and frames are so pretty in shape and design that they cannot but add to the beauty of the wearer. We have striven and succeeded in obtaining the

VARIETY AS WELL AS THE STYLE,

And our stock to-day is greater than any you will find in the first millinery establishments of the country. We have secured the services of a milliner (who came to Los Angeles pleasant to our invitation), whose handiwork establishes her worth. She comes to us from one of the largest millinery portfolios in that country, and brings with her the newest of style in hat trimming. She has been with us but a few days, but even in that short time a considerable evidence of taste, style and elegance abiding that we do not hesitate in saying that a visit is not to be seen or found anywhere here-about, and those in search of choice hats will not be deceived in placing their orders with us.

DRESS GOODS

We have such splendid values to offer in this line that we cannot forego to mention a few of them. We have a line of superb quality dress silks, they are pure silk, with a rich and elegant lustre, from 20 to 22 inches wide, that we have sold heretofore at $1 50 and $1 a yard, and at those prices we could consider a bargain. We will sell them on Monday and during this week only at 99c A YARD.

A line of brocaded silk velvets will be slaughtered at $1.00 per yard.

A few shades of silk plush will be sold for 75c a yard.

In dress goods we quote half-wool plaids 12½c a yard. Combination suitings 15c. We shall place on sale as long as they last a line of brocaded combinations in Esprest cloths at 25c a yard. These goods are beauties and the cheapest we have ever shown.

CATARRH!

A NEW TREATMENT BY

W. N. DAVIS, M. D., M. C. P. S. O.

Graduate of "Chicago Homeopathic College," Chicago, and member of the "College of Physicians and Surgeons" of Ontario, Province of Canada.

HOMŒOPATHIC SPECIALIST of Diseases of Ear, Nose, Throat, Chest, and all Chronic Diseases.

TREATMENT.

Starting with the claim now generally believed, by the most scientific men, that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissues, we devote our treatment to their destruction, and the catarrh is cured.

By homœopathic remedies, which are taken either in spray or inhalation, or both, as the case may require. We use no drugs, which are unfit for our inhalant cure, which tends to make the patient take cold more readily upon exposure, but use a new appearance; by which the steam can be avoided. Fully one-half the cases of so-called consumption are due to catarrh and can be cured by our new treatment.

The results of this treatment in nasal catarrh are surprising, when it is remembered that not five per cent of cases are cured by the ordinary practitioner, and many sufferers never recover a cure at all. Homœopathic remedies are specially required for the blood, liver, etc.

Consultation free. If impossible to visit the office a treatise and list of questions will be sent by mail.

The following testimonial of a gentleman well known in Los Angeles, who has a law office at 404 North Spring street, must show how quickly catarrh can be cured:

This is to certify that I am a regularly qualified physician, but not practicing medicine, have always believed catarrh of the chronic nasal variety to be an incurable affliction, but hearing of Dr. W. N. Davis' new treatment and his method of application, I was induced to call and be examined by it in the case of one of my friends, and did so with the most satisfactory results, as improvement was immediate, and one prescription effected a cure. The case was of years' standing and of a very severe type. I can recommend Dr. Davis to those afflicted. S. HALEY, M. D.

CONSUMPTION.

The earlier symptoms of this disease are a sense of weariness upon little exertion, a disposition to remain passive and idle, a peculiar sensitiveness to the effects of cold and a shortness of breath upon moving quickly or ascending a hill or slight elevation. Sooner or later a cough, with or without expectoration, firing pains throughout the chest or back, or under the shoulder blades, a hacking cough, especially on first awaking in the morning or during the night, slight hoarseness, a tickling in the throat, and in many cases bleeding of the lips and roots of the finger nails.

These are advanced symptoms are wasting of flesh, diarrhœa, chills and fever, night sweats, hectic flushes of the cheeks, ulcers or cavities in the lungs, with or without a deposition of the chest, hemorrhage of more or less at a coming up of the air passages of the lungs, causing strangulation or suffocation, and the patient dies from one of these symptoms or from the access from the lungs.

Now, while the above symptoms of consumption has been very unsatisfactory, both alike to the physicians and their patients, but lately upon the discovery of the "Oxygen Treatment" practice a few years ago, thousands of cases have been completely cured, where had it not been for this system of practice, utter failure to combat the evils of the disease would have been inevitable. The system of the Oxygen Treatment of Medicated Inhalations is the only means by which the disease can be cured. And they are recommended by the highest authority, both in Europe and in America, as we would draw the distinction between Inhalation and Aspiration. Some persons suppose that they can use the same in every respect, while nothing is further from the truth. In Aspiration the liquid is sustained in the form of a spray, which only reaches the throat, while Inhalation, the remedy is to be inhaled, medicated the air we breathe, and is conveyed directly into the air passages of the lungs as ordinary air. By this means we are enabled to dissolve the hardened mucous in the lungs, cause the cough, facilitate expectoration, control the night sweats and cauterize after all hope of cure by the ordinary methods is past. Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedy at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance in business whatever. The greater portion of consumptives come in the first stage can be radically cured.

Consultation free and prices within the reach of all.

The very best of references given from those already cured. And we would particularly urge upon our Eastern friends the necessity of direct application—Inhalations—as well as the most favorable climatic influences, if you wish to avoid the sad experience of hundreds of invalids who depend upon the climate alone, as nine cases out of ten die in consequence of this very thing.

Those who desires to consult me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for the remainder of this week, as after that my office personally, may write for "List of Questions" and circular, both of which will be sent free of charge. Address,

CONSUMPTION.

The earlier symptoms of this disease are a sense of weariness upon little exertion, a disposition to remain passive and idle, a peculiar sensitiveness to the effects of cold and a shortness of breath upon moving quickly or ascending a hill or slight elevation. Sooner or later a cough, with or without expectoration, firing pains throughout the chest or back, or under the shoulder blades, a hacking cough, especially on first awaking in the morning or during the night, slight hoarseness, a tickling in the throat, and in many cases bleeding of the lips and roots of the finger nails.

These are advanced symptoms are wasting of flesh, diarrhœa, chills and fever, night sweats, hectic flushes of the cheeks, ulcers or cavities in the lungs, with or without a deposition of the chest, hemorrhage of more or less at a coming up of the air passages of the lungs, causing strangulation or suffocation, and the patient dies from one of these symptoms or from the access from the lungs.

Now, while the above symptoms of consumption has been very unsatisfactory, both alike to the physicians and their patients, but lately upon the discovery of the "Oxygen Treatment" practice a few years ago, thousands of cases have been completely cured, where had it not been for this system of practice, utter failure to combat the evils of the disease would have been inevitable. They have been cured by the system of Medicated Inhalations in the only means by which the disease can be cured. And they are recommended by the highest authority, both in Europe and in America, as we would draw the distinction between Inhalation and Aspiration. Some persons suppose that they can use the same in every respect, while nothing is further from the truth. In Aspiration the liquid is sustained in the form of a spray, which only reaches the throat, while Inhalation, the remedy is to be inhaled, medicated the air we breathe, and is conveyed directly into the air passages of the lungs as ordinary air. By this means we are enabled to dissolve the hardened mucous in the lungs, cause the cough, facilitate expectoration, control the night sweats and cauterize after all hope of cure by the ordinary methods is past. Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedy at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance in business whatever. The greater portion of consumptives come in the first stage can be radically cured.

Consultation free and prices within the reach of all.

The very best of references given from those already cured. And we would particularly urge upon our Eastern friends the necessity of direct application—Inhalations—as well as the most favorable climatic influences, if you wish to avoid the sad experience of hundreds of invalids who depend upon the climate alone, as nine cases out of ten die in consequence of this very thing.

Those who desires to consult me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for the remainder of this week, as after that my office personally, may write for "List of Questions" and circular, both of which will be sent free of charge. Address,

AMUSEMENTS.

HAVERLY'S.—If there was a vacant seat in the Grand Opera House last evening, it was not visible to the naked eye. A better house has not been gathered there since its opening, and the assemblage was happy in proportion to its size.

The company is simply immense. All of the antiquated and mediocre features in semi-circular stiff-backed formality is done away with. The acts are new, the jokes are new, the songs are new, the tumbling of the Orego family is a new feature in a minstrel entertainment. Low Spencer and Ben Collins occupied the "outside ends," so far as those ends were discoverable in the newly-cast stage box arrangements. George Gorman's comic singing was very taking, as were also the ballads by Harley, Curran and Shaw.

The imitations of a brass band, a calliope and a church organ by the Quaker City Quartette, were immense achievements of the vocal organs and set the house wild. The dancing was fine, and the drill exercise surpassed anything of the kind ever witnessed on the Los Angeles boards. There will be three distinct programmes presented during the week.

CONFESSED.

It Was a Venture, Not a San Bernardino, Robbery.

Last week, as reported, officers McMahon and Berry bagged three rascals named Rutherford, Aradell and Maynard, who were endeavoring to sell a lot of stolen jewelry to a second-hand dealer on Aliso street. It was supposed at the time that these were the men who had robbed the store at San Bernardino.

Sunday Rutherford confessed and piloted Officer McMahon out to a place in the willows near Moulton's place, where more of the plunder, comprising knives, earrings, breastpins, etc., was buried. It turns out after all that this does not come from San Bernardino, but is the proceeds of a robbery at Palisades, Ventura county, one week ago Sunday night.

The Sheriff of Ventura has been notified, and it is expected he will be here to-day to take charge of the prisoners.

There is strong reason for believing that one or two of these men were implicated in the robbery of Lightner & Rosenthal's store at Riverside about five months ago, when a large safe was rolled out of the place, carried off on a truck, and blown open.

Dan Cutlis, an accomplice of the precious trio, who was helping them dispose of their stolen jewelry, confessed to Officer McMahon that he was a deserter from the United States Army.

OSTRICHES.

A Bird Farm Designed for Los Feliz Ranch.

Anaheim Gazette.]

In about three weeks the Doctor (Shatchley) will start for South Africa to purchase from twenty to thirty birds. Extraordinary care will be exercised in the selection, as it is intended that each pair will have a capacity of producing at least seventy chicks a year. The birds will be shipped from Cape Town to New York, and thence by railroad to this county by rail, and will probably arrive here within five months.

This last is an enterprise in which Dr. Shatchley and two other gentlemen are about interested. They have secured between 200 and 300 acres of land on the Los Feliz ranche, seven miles from Los Angeles, in a beautiful, well watered and fertile spot. It is their purpose to make the place a popular resort for the people of Los Angeles. Their plans contemplate a club house, elaborate gardens and a collection of rare birds from all parts of the world, together with such objects of interest as they may deem it advisable to add from time to time. Such a resort so near the city will supply "a long-felt want."

The ostriches at the Anaheim farm are thriving vigorously. At the last plucking of feathers the sixteen-months old chicks (of which there are forty-one) produced feathers over two feet in length—feathers superior in quality and size to those usually produced by three-year-old birds in Africa. The birds will again be plucked in a couple of weeks.

The ostrich-feather market in this country is controlled by a combination of merchants in New York, who have viewed with apprehension the success of the industry here. All efforts to get them to purchase at a reasonable price the feathers raised here having failed, the company have already sent to Paris an expert purveyor of feathers for the market, and as a result genuine ostrich feathers can soon be purchased at a price ridiculously small as compared with what has ruled heretofore.

Progress of Government Explorations on the Coast and Rivers of Northern Alaska.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—The United States revenue cutter Corwin arrived from the Arctic this morning. She has nearly 200 of the crews of shipwrecked whalers aboard. The Corwin brings news from the Arctic fleet to the 30th of August. She reports that the whalers Mabel and the George and Susan were blown ashore in a gale of wind on August 10th in Wainwright's Inlet, longitude 160, and latitude 71. Three of the crew of the Susan were lost; William Lee Cooper, August Wilhelm and James Evans, seamen. The Mabel is owned by William Lewis, of Marblehead, Mass., and the George and Susan by Aiken Swift of the same place. These are the only vessels lost since the report brought down by the Thomas Pope, nor had the fleet caught any whales since the report of that vessel. During the gale the Corwin attempted to send a boat to the whaler Abraham Barker, but it capsized on the way. The officer of the deck on the Corwin, seeing the accident, sent another boat in command of Lieutenant Kennedy, who, after a hard struggle, succeeded in saving the boat's crew. The following day the Corwin towed the bark Ohio to the side of the George and Susan, when all the oil

ENLARGED SHEET.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1885.

Ohio.

The Buckeye State votes to-day for State officers and members of the Legislature. The State casts, on a full vote, about three-quarters of a million votes. Great interest attaches to the result of to-day's balloting, not so much on account of the State issues involved, which are important chiefly to the people immediately concerned, as because of the effect which the result will have on national politics. Republican success will tell against Cleveland's administration and go to disprove the Democratic claim of its popularity with the country. Republican success will also confirm John Sherman in his Senatorial seat for another term, and make him a formidable candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1888. It will also have the effect of checking the career of that disturbing element in State and National politics, the Prohibition party, throwing it back on its haunches, where it may rest and think—ponder on the iniquity of a Democratic alliance, all for the sake of "punishing" the Republican party for its grievous offense in not disbanding its organization and going over to the Prohibition camp in 1884.

That party—the Prohibition—cast 11,069 votes for St. John in the last Presidential campaign. They boast of being able to double that number in to-day's election, claiming that as prohibition is a State rather than a national issue, many Republicans with prohibition leanings will desert the old party and go with the brevet Democrats. We shall see to-morrow. It is even possible that the Prohibitionists will be found to hold the balance of power in Ohio, but we are not prepared to believe it—at this writing.

Ohio is a Republican State, which has occasionally swung away from her moorings in off years, but never in a Presidential year. Going back to 1856, Fremont had a plurality over Buchanan of more than 16,000 out of a total vote of less than 300,000. In the quadrangular contest of 1860 Lincoln's majority over his three rivals, Douglas, Breckinridge and Bell, was nearly 30,000, and in 1864 he beat McClellan by 59,500. In 1868 Grant defeated Seymour by a majority of 41,600; and in 1872 the same soldier-President vanquished his three rivals, Greeley, O'Conor and Black, by a majority of 30,268. In 1876 the Republican majority was reduced, Hayes carrying the State by a plurality over Tilden of 7576, and a majority over all of about 3000. In 1880 the State "came out strong" again for the Republican ticket, Garfield's plurality being 34,227. Blaine's plurality in 1884 was a little less, viz., 31,802. Going back to the last gubernatorial election, 1883, when the leading candidates were the same as they are to-day—Foraker, Republican, against Hoadly, Democrat—we find that the latter's majority was 1318 out of a total vote of 718,368. This was a "close shave" for Hoadly, and there is good ground for hoping that Foraker can more than overcome the adverse vote, provided the Prohibition vote is not greatly in excess of that cast last year. If it were drawn in anything near equal proportions from the two old parties, there would be hardly a doubt of Republican success.

The campaign just ended has been an active and vigorous one. The Republicans are more harmonious and better united than the Democrats, and the signs of victory show brighter for Judge Foraker and his party.

High License in Missouri.

To show how high license operates in Missouri, we quote the following pointed editorial from the St. Louis Republican, a Democratic paper: "It is a fact worth remarking that, since the rigorous amendments made to the high-license law in this State by the late Legislature went into effect, the selling of liquor without license is becoming more and more rare. The tolerence for the offence which prevailed formerly has given place to a stern popular determination that the law shall be enforced and violations of it severely punished. A few days ago in Mexico, Audrain county, a man found guilty of selling spirits without license was fined $100 and costs for one offence, and $75 and costs for each of two others. Such penalties as these will break up the illegal business entirely. It was once estimated that an unlicensed saloon-keeper could make enough between trials to pay his light fine and still go on with the business; but the courts in the interior of the State no longer inflict light fines; they give the offender the full penalty of the law, and this is only just to the honest saloon-keepers who pay a high price for their license and faithfully observe the law. They are entitled to protection—and courts and juries are beginning to give it to them."

This goes to show, what we have always claimed, that the interests of saloon-keepers are by no means identical, as false logicians and the "League of Freedom" would have us believe. The saloon-keeper who persists in his refusal to loyally obey the laws made for the government of his business is no friend of the law-obeying saloon-keeper—and there are many such—who is willing to conform to the law, pay his license, and put his establishment upon a higher plane than that of the mere dog-gery. The two classes are in the nature of things antagonistic, and the better class find it to their advantage to separate themselves from the other.

Should the threatened hostility of the "League of Freedom" of Los Angeles to the high-license ordinance of the City Council be carried to the point of actual resistance to the law, nothing short of its rigid enforcement, with heavy penalties, as in Missouri and other States, will answer the plain demands of the law-and-order portion of the community.

MARKETING FRUIT.

Shorb's and Sallee's Schemes for a Big Fruit-Growers' Exchange.

COMPREHENSIVE AND ELABORATE PLANS

Can They Be Carried Out in Practice?—Denial That a Blocked Monopoly Would Be the Result—Points of the Plans.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: I have read with great pleasure your editorial in to-day's issue on my plan of "Marketing of Fruit," as simply outlined in my sketch or essay read at the Pomological meeting held at Pomona on Saturday last.

If I have succeeded in accomplishing nothing more than intensifying and concentrating thought on this subject and inducing men to think, talk and write in this direction, my labor has not been utterly in vain.

The friction of ideas tends always to the evolution of new ideas, thoughts, schemes or suggestions, which, tested in the crucible of experience, will demonstrate their value or insignificance to mankind, and history is full of instructive lessons of the fruitfulness of such discussions in revealing remedies for conditions or disorders at one time deemed almost hopeless and inveterate.

In this school of experience even the oldest and wisest of us can scarcely hope to take the degree of L.L.D.

Your principal monthly reporter seems to rest upon the grand proposition that it partakes of a monopolistic character. When my plan is entirely understood by the people, as it will be when the details of its business management are laid before them, I claim that no one can then fairly charge that it is open to this suspicion or objection, and that really, from first to last, it is a popular movement "by the people, for the people;" only this and nothing more!

The essential feature of monopoly—the sine qua non of its spirit, life and objects—is recognized in the fact that it is odious to the people, and simply for the reason that the whole scheme may, in a word, be defined as an association of men who, by the possession of superior business ability and qualifications and greater advantages, control to their own interest and the detriment of all others the particular business that illustrates this bad character.

Now does my plan admit or suggest anything of the kind? Let the facts answer!

My plan, crystallized down to essentials, is this simply: To organize a corporation in which all fruit producers and shippers may own their own stock, and more, select their own officers. Is this monopoly? Further, that the object of this corporation is to secure the lowest rates on all freights charged by the transportation companies; that it will reduce all expenses incidental to the "marketing of fruit" to a minimum; further, it is to establish commercial agencies throughout the United States and Territories; that upon the desk of the general manager of the association, it will place every morning a full record of telegraphic advices of the market supply and value of all the fruits, and upon such advices all shipments are and must be based; that eventually it will build packing houses at all the great fruit centers; that it will select, classify and properly pack the fruit, according to its quality, placing the brands of the producers upon their boxes, and to whom shall be sent all account sales, leaving them free to draw for their money in such quantity and at such times as best suits them! Is this monopoly? Further, that all rebates and savings secured to be returned to the shipper, either in large or small amounts, according to his number of boxes; that the same advantages to be given all shippers, whether they belong to the corporation or not, so long as they ship through these agencies of the company; that the association will discourage all speculation in buying or selling; that it will, on the contrary, advise the consignments of fruits that the producer may reap all the market can supply; and if any small producer shall elect to sell his fruit, he may do so, he receiving the highest price that can be realized, the rebates or advantages being figured to his benefit in the valuation of his fruit. Now, in what respect is the producer controlled? To this extent, simply, and no more: That he shall not, at his own instance or at the suggestion of some dishonest middleman (which is often the case), ship his products to markets already overloaded, or that will be fully supplied by reason of shipments already made, to his own inevitable loss and the loss of his neighbor's fruits; that if he does so ship in violation of the laws of trade, then let him suffer the consequences of his temerity, folly and crime!

The producer is, by this plan, always protected. He is to pay but one commission to the commercial agents, the corporation being supported and its expenses paid by a very small proportion of rebates and savings so secured.

Now, if all the producers would voluntarily organize and pool all their fruit, and unanimously agree to ship through one system of harmonized agencies, placing in the hands of well-tried officers, trained in the business, the direction and distribution of all the fruits, then my plan would not be necessary.

Will they do so? Take the report of their meetings and read your answer!

If the railroads would act in the way of commercial advisers to the shippers, and showing through telegraphic sources the condition of the various markets, would instruct their patrons where to ship and where not to ship, and the shippers would follow their advice, then again all would do well; but we know this is out of the question—it is simply impracticable.

If a corporation, such as proposed at the fruit-grower's meeting in San Francisco, were formed, and any considerable number stayed out of it, then would this number, be it large or small, control the corporation in fact; could, indeed, within a very short period, destroy it by shipping just enough to break the different markets on them, or if not this, could utilize their exterior position to blackmail them for an entire fruit season.

I invite the sharpest criticism of my plan—not wedded to it—ready to give it up for another more wisely, justly or popularly developed and officered.

Remember, in conclusion, gentlemen, that my plan involves and exerts simply such paternal control over the producer and shipper as will prevent either from violating the great primordial law of trade or commerce, the destruction of the equilibrium between supply and demand.

Remember one single drop of water will overrun the cup as surely as a thousand, and the insignificance of one drop here acquires a position, power and value not to be overestimated.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant, J. DE BARTH SHORB.

SAN GABRIEL, Cal., Oct. 7, 1885.

ANOTHER PLAN,

Or Rather the Same Plan Slightly Modified.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: The importance of an organization of fruit-growers for the purpose of selling their products, is felt by all, and need not be argued here. But the plan of organization is what is the rub.

To my mind the principal object is to organize so as to retain the profits of the business with the producer, and not give it all to a system of "middle men." Mr. Stanford once remarked when interviewed for the purpose of getting freights reduced: "What is the use of reducing freights if the middle-men get all the profits?" The organization must be such as to avoid all competition amongst producers, so that the question will only be one of supply and demand. There must be but one system in Southern California. I have this proposition to make:

Form a corporation under the laws of the State, letting every acre of bearing orchard and vineyard entitle the owner thereof to the purchase of one share in the corporation. The number of shares to be 100,000, or a sufficient number to cover the entire fruit-producing district of Southern California. Shares to be of the par value of $2.50 each. Central office at Los Angeles, Cal., and branch offices in each important fruit-producing district. The number of directors eleven, one in charge of each branch office, and the rest at Los Angeles. Directors in charge of each branch office to conduct monthly meetings of the stockholders in his district for the purpose of instruction in fruit-producing, packing, etc. Also to collect monthly statements of amount of fruit ripening, time it will be ready for shipment, kinds and qualities of the same, and each other information as will be of importance to the business.

These reports sent to the central office. The further duty of these directors shall be to give information to the producers in his district, of time to deliver fruit to the railroad for shipment (this should be done in such a manner as to allow each producer to gather and pack his own fruit, without hiring too much of the work done—by dividing the demand in proportion to the fruit on hand by the producer (A to furnish twenty-five boxes, B 40, C 30, and so on), inspect and receipt for the same; see that each producer has his own name on each box, boxes in proper shape, etc.; forward to central office a correct bill of goods in each car.

The central office contracts with the railroad for all freight rates. Sends its orders to the various branch offices for carload lots, as each locality demands. The railroad collects these cars immediately—beginning at Santa Ana—through Downey, Los Angeles, Pasadena, San Gabriel, Pomona, and last at Colton from Riverside, San Diego, etc. No time is lost, or misunderstanding had.

The corporation should have an office in the west—say Kansas City—with the best man that can be had in charge. There are many good commission houses in the East, and there is one man who has the entire control—or is the brains—of the whole concern. This is the kind of man we want. Pay him a salary to justify him—not less than $5000 per year. This man is to direct the distribution and sale of all fruit.

He can be assisted by four or six good traveling agents, until he gets the business thoroughly organized. He is furnished with a list of commercial agents from the central office in Los Angeles, so he knows what to expect and when to expect it. He has a thorough knowledge of his customers, and can tell them when to expect certain kinds of fruit. He is informed by telegraph of time of shipment and bill of goods, and can inform his customers when orders will be filled. He collects all moneys and forwards to central office, to whom the producer looks for returns. These traveling agents can inform the local manager of the demand throughout the country, and when the system is thoroughly inaugurated, this expense can be dispensed with. The local manager of the western office, as well as the officers of the central office, should be under heavy bonds.

Thus we have a system which will provide for the sale of all fruits, both green and dried, as well as canned goods, nuts, etc.; the minimum freight rates secured, as well as minimum expense in every branch; the markets thoroughly under control, and all goods sold at living rates. The only question being that of supply and demand. Now, I want to compare the estimated expense of this and other systems.

There will be the coming year, about 500,000 boxes of oranges alone produced in Southern California. These at $1.00 per box are $500,000. There has been no system proposed up to the present which offers to handle this fruit for a less expense than 10 per cent. That is $50,000. This is for oranges alone. Now to allow a liberal salary for the system proposed, we will say that the local Directors—or Inspectors—of branch offices must have $3 per day for services, and they devote 100 days each during the season, or ($500 each) $6,000. The managers of the central office, President, (or manager) and Secretary (each $2,500), $5,000; office rent, stationary, etc., $1,000; salary of managers of sales, $5,000; salary of two traveling agents, (each $3,000) $6,000; telegraphing, etc., $2,000; total expense, $25,000.

This includes the sale of all fruits, nuts and canned goods, which in the sum total would amount to double that of the orange crop alone. Besides if a syndicate is allowed to handle the fruit products, as soon as the system is thoroughly under their control, they will know just what to expect from the sales of their business, and will buy the products of the raisers, paying them about one-half of what it is worth; thereby quadrupling the expense to the producer—for the producer is the man who should be entitled to the profits.

This system should take in every fruit producer in Southern California, and none who are not members should be allowed the benefits of the corporation. This would make the stock forever valuable, and cement the corporation forever into a permanent thing. It will be readily seen that all fruit will be sold on its merits, so there can be no objection of one locality urged against another. It will also be seen that the expense will be a certain per cent. of the products sold, so that the stockholder who ships no fruit pays no part of the expense.

Another point in this corporation is the power it gives for grappling with the scale-bug question, which is one that I think will eventually fall back upon the fruit producers instead of on the State and county as it now is.

If the fruit growers want to take this thing of shipping and selling their products into their own hands, now is the time. For if it is allowed to drop into the hands of a syndicate composed of only a few this opportunity will be forever lost. J. W. SALLEE.

The Banning Memorial.

[Correspondence of the TIMES.]

WILMINGTON, Oct. 10.—The placing of a magnificent memorial stained-glass window in the chancel of the new church in Wilmington, by Mrs. Banning, is a most interesting event, and merits more than our passing notice. The window was executed by the firm of John Mallon, of San Francisco. The center opening contains the figure of Christ bearing the cross, surmounted by a canopy of an architectural design, with a base of the same containing, in a point, 3 arch, a rich floral design, set with jewels and supported by an inscription bearing the legend, "In Memory of Gen. Phineas Banning." The figure of Christ is extremely expressive of humility, and is one of the best representations we have ever seen. The dexter and sinister side lights are divided into four compartments. In the upper one on the dexter side is placed the emblem of the Holy Ghost, which is balanced on the sinister side by the sheaf of wheat. In the next and most important panel in both lights is the Angel appearing to Mary—generally termed the "Salutation." In the panel under the angel is placed the lamb, on the opposite are the grapes, and under both are vases of lilies. The inscription in the dexter-side opening is "In Memory of Ellen (M. Banning;" in the sinister side the text, "Eternal Rest." It must be said of the window that it is an artistic success in every particular. The design, the drawing and the harmonious balance of colors are simply perfection; while the expression of the figures is all that could be desired, especially that of the Madonna, which is exquisitely beautiful. Church Social at Long Beach.

A pleasant gathering took place on Friday evening at the M. E. Church at Long Beach. The chapel was well filled. A unique musical and literary programme was rendered, which added much to the enjoyment, after which refreshments were served. The chapel was beautifully decorated with evergreens and a bounteous supply of exquisite flowers, making the scene a charming one.

The following was the programme rendered:

1—Children's chorus, "The Merry Birds," under their efficient teacher, Miss Malvin, late of Oakland, Cal.

2—Solo, with organ accompaniment, "The Old Piano," by Prof. Charles Day, of Los Angeles.

3—An original song, composed by Mr. Lummis, of Los Angeles, music by Justice Hussey, of Long Beach, and sung by Miss Elwood, Mr. Hussey and J. S. Fleming.

4—Recitation, "The Perpetuity of the Church," by Mr. Bush.

5—Organ Recital, Miss Elwood.

6—Quartette, "Music in the Air," by Misses Elwood and Malvine, Messrs. Hussey and Fleming.

7—Address of welcome by Prof. Miller, late of Nebraska, to the pastor and people, which was responded to by the pastor, Rev. J. S. Fleming.

The exercises closed about 10 o'clock. All were greatly pleased with this, the first attempt of the kind at Long Beach. Similar entertainments are expected to follow during the winter months.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

Stocks and Bonds.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Government bonds active, strong.

Stocks more active than any preceding day this year. Up to 1 o'clock the market was decidedly strong, advancing from ½ to 1¾ per cent., the latter in Pacific Mail. In amount of business done Western Union led the whole list, selling from 78 at opening and 74¾, to which it declined in early dealings, to 79¾, before noon. Union Pacific gained 1¾ and Missouri Pacific 1¾ per cent. The other Gould stocks made advances of only small fractions. Throughout the afternoon the market was irregular, active, feverish at times and decidedly weak, closing with about half the active list higher and the other half lower than final prices of Saturday. Western Union was strong on rumors of an amicable arrangement with the Baltimore and Ohio. The truth of the rumor, however, is officially denied.

Domestic Grain Market.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—Wheat: Local trading slow, buyers will not pay asking prices and business is consequently very limited. Much better figures are said to be obtainable in the interior than at the seaboard. Spot parcels of No. 1 shipping are held at $1 87½. White exporters find their bidding to $1 87½. As a consequence transfers are light. Barley: Good new feed can be bought at $1 35, while it is doubtful if an article that will pass inspection as of No. 1 standard can be secured for less than $1 40. Brewing shows steadiness, range being reported at $1 40@1 50.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Wheat unsettled, strong, active, closing ½@¾c over Saturday; 86¾c October; 87¾c November; 87¾c December; 88¾c May. Corn quiet, steady, October 36c better; other futures only a shade better; 42¾c October; 40¾c November; 37¾c year; 37¾c May. Barley quiet, firm.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—The Board of Trade official daily statement shows the amount of grain in sight in the United States and Canada, Saturday, October 10th, and amount of increase or decrease over preceding week, as follows: Wheat—48,717,501 bushels; increase, 976,313. Corn—4,391,713; decrease, 221,377. Oats—2,947,940; decrease, 19,288. Barley—704,252; increase, 227,833.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 11.—Wheat quiet but steady, holders offer strongly, unchanged. Weather in England frosty.

A Splendid Offer.

In order to increase the already very large circulation of the Los Angeles WEEKLY MIRROR, the publishers have decided to offer as a premium to each yearly subscriber who pays $2, a copy of Stephenson's map of the county of Los Angeles and parts of San Bernardino and San Diego counties. The size of this map is 23x30. It was issued this year, and is the most accurate map of this section ever published. It shows all the townships, sections, cities, towns and hamlets, rivers, creeks, mountains, harbors, large ranches, mines, railroads, including the Atlantic and Pacific and its proposed routes, and has a thousand other features of interest and value to residents of Southern California. It is alone well worth the subscription price and is the finest premium ever offered by any paper in the State. Taken in connection with the fifty-two issues of the MIRROR, an eight-page paper with over sixty long columns of reading matter of the choicest kind, it will readily be seen that this is an opportunity which rarely occurs. Avail yourselves of it. The maps will be mailed to any address on receipt of $2.

GARDNER'S MUSIC STORE.

A New Establishment—Fine Stock of Musical Instruments.

Los Angeles has had quite an acquisition during the past week, in the opening of a new music store at 30 South Spring street by Mr. J. W. Gardner. Mr. Gardner is one of the best known dealers in musical instruments on the coast, and has several times made highly successful trips, in the interest of his business, from "Siskiyou to San Diego, and from the Sierras to the sea." He has also made a number of trips through Oregon and Washington Territory, where he has had a large trade. His store at 30 South Spring street will be the headquarters for standard musical instruments, including the Chickering, Knabe, Steck and Hardman pianos and the Story & Clark, Taber and Kimball organs, for all of which he is agent. He has by far the largest stock of instruments in the city, and will carry on both a wholesale and retail business. Instruments may be purchased either for cash or on the instalment plan, on the most reasonable terms. The genial manager of the store is J. S. Cohen, a gentleman of large experience in the music trade. The outlook for this new music house is excellent, as Mr. Gardner has the reputation of making a success of everything he undertakes, and it is certain that his establishment will become a resort for those interested in musical progress in Southern California. All who desire to see fine instruments, even if they have no intention of purchasing, will be welcome.

The Auction Sale

At 239 North Main street was largely attended by both ladies and gentlemen, representing the best families of Los Angeles, which speaks well for the stock that is being sold. The attendance grows larger every day, and many had to go away that were unable to gain admittance. The presents that are given away free of charge are fine, and are distributed in a fair manner to those attending, whether they buy goods or not. Sale each day at 2 and 7 o'clock. —[Adv.

LIZZIE PARKER.

The Mystery of Her Disappearance Still Unraveled.

A report was published yesterday that Lizzie Parker, the young lady who disappeared mysteriously last Thursday, took passage by the east-bound emigrant train on the same day, under the name of Lizzie Ford. The facts, as sifted down by a TIMES reporter, are that a middle-aged woman named Lizzie Torr, was a passenger by the Thursday's east-bound emigrant train. She had been a servant in the St. Elmo Hotel for two or three days, but had been discharged for incompetency, or for some other reason. When she purchased her ticket and got on the train she was intoxicated. By a mistake the name of this woman was given as Lizzie Ford, and by an unfounded surmise Lizzie Ford was confounded with Lizzie Parker. This effectually disposes of the theory that Lizzie Parker took her departure for Lowell, Massachusetts, by last Thursday's train, under an assumed name.

The hotels at Santa Monica and Long Beach were spoken by telephone yesterday, but without eliciting any information of the young lady's presence in either place.

N. C. Carter, of Sierra Madre, knows Lizzie Parker very well, and gives an excellent report of her. She came from Lowell on one of his excursions six or seven years ago. After her arrival in Los Angeles, she was employed in the family of C. J. Ellis, and worked for other well-known citizens, always being well esteemed. In the house of Mrs. Van Tress, at 123 Courthouse street, she had a quasi home to which she went when out of employment, and she was always welcomed. She was a prepossessing girl in appearance; there was nothing unladylike or forward about her. She was prostrated by typhoid fever two or three months ago, and has not regained her health fully since. Recently, after making a trip down town on a very warm day, she was prostrated and threatened with congestion of the brain. A sister of Mrs. Van Tress, who called at the TIMES office last evening, stated that for four days previous to her disappearance Miss Parker had not slept at all. She complained of an intense pain in the head, and ate almost nothing. At the breakfast table Thursday morning, the young lady said, "If this pain doesn't stop, I shall go crazy."

Her friends fear that she may have been overcome with a similar and perhaps more serious attack than that which she suffered first, or that she has lost her reason and wandered away. But, if this were the case, it is thought that no report has come of a woman found in a sick or helpless condition. The fact that Miss Parker drew all of worldly wealth—$20—out of the bank on the day of her disappearance, further complicates the case. Was she robbed? Was she foully made away with? So far as known all she owed in the city was $15 due her physician, Dr. Fellows.

At the house of Mrs. Van Tress no report had been received from the missing girl up to a late hour yesterday afternoon. The police have no light to throw on the situation.

Yesterday Cloud Luce, a nephew of Mrs. Van Tress, visited Wilmington, Long Beach and San Pedro, at the last named place looking through the shipping thoroughly, but without finding traces of the missing girl. A report was received from the Pasadena family in which Miss Parker formerly lived to the effect that she had not appeared there. Mrs. Van Tress and the members of her household are using every effort to trace the whereabouts of the unfortunate young lady. Great interest is also taken by numerous friends of Miss Parker who inquire daily for news of her and who are willing to do anything in their power to solve the mystery. Chief of Police Horner holds the opinion the young lady has committed suicide.

THE STANFORD RECEPTION.

Meeting at the Board of Trade Rooms Last Evening.

An adjourned meeting of the Directors of the Board of Trade and Produce Exchange was held in the rooms of the Board of Trade at 8 o'clock last evening to listen to the report of the committee appointed last Thursday in regard to the reception of Senator Stanford.

Mr. Lichtenberger and Mr. Hewitt, President and Secretary of the Southern District Agricultural Fair, were also present upon invitation.

A letter from Mr. Gage, assistant to Mr. Stanford, addressed to Colonel E. E. Hewitt, Superintendent of the railroad, was read, which stated that the Senator greatly desired to be here upon the opening day of the fair, but his time was so fully occupied that he was undecided as yet whether he could be here on the opening day or not, but that he certainly would be present during the week. On motion of Mr. Mathews, a committee of three was appointed to wire the Senator and ascertain definitely when he would arrive here and make all arrangements for a proper reception by the Board of Trade and Produce Exchange.

On motion of Mr. Germain, the Mayor of the city, or, in his absence, the President of the Council, was added to the committee to represent the city.

After some further discussion, the meeting adjourned to meet again at the call of the President.

An Important Change.

From Mr. Truslow, general agent of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé road, a TIMES reporter learned yesterday that an important change goes into effect on his road to-day. Hereafter all emigrant cars from Mojave to Kansas City will be hauled through by express trains, shortening the time materially. This is good news for Los Angeles, as it will largely increase excursion travel.

An Embarrassed Bank Cashier.

There were two bank officials yesterday who felt uncomfortable. One was the cashier of the Bank of San Bernardino who was in this city, and the other was the President of the same institution who was in San Bernardino. The trouble came about in this way: Mr. Millree, the cashier, came down here Saturday and went to Santa Monica, where the charms of the surf and other attractions made the time slip away so fast that he missed the train. Arriving in Los Angeles behind time, he missed the Colton train and then he realized that he was the only man who had the combination to the bank safe and unless he reached his home by 10 a. m. the bank would be unable to open at the regular hour. He tried to charter an engine and get through, but the expense—$150—deterred him, and the consequence was that until a late hour yesterday the bank of San Bernardino had to do business on borrowed capital.

He told a TIMES reporter that, on Sunday evening, about 6 o'clock, he entered the store of Frankel & Weit, in which the San Pedro postoffice is located, for the purpose of getting his mail. As he was about leaving, Weit, the Postmaster, called to him, and, as he turned back, drew a revolver and struck him upon the head with it.
